

In today's digital world, cybercriminals are using different tactics to get your personal account information.

Here are ways to spot a scam

Spell check messages

Inconsistency in the language used, such as poor grammar or spelling, could signify fraud.

Verify who they say they are

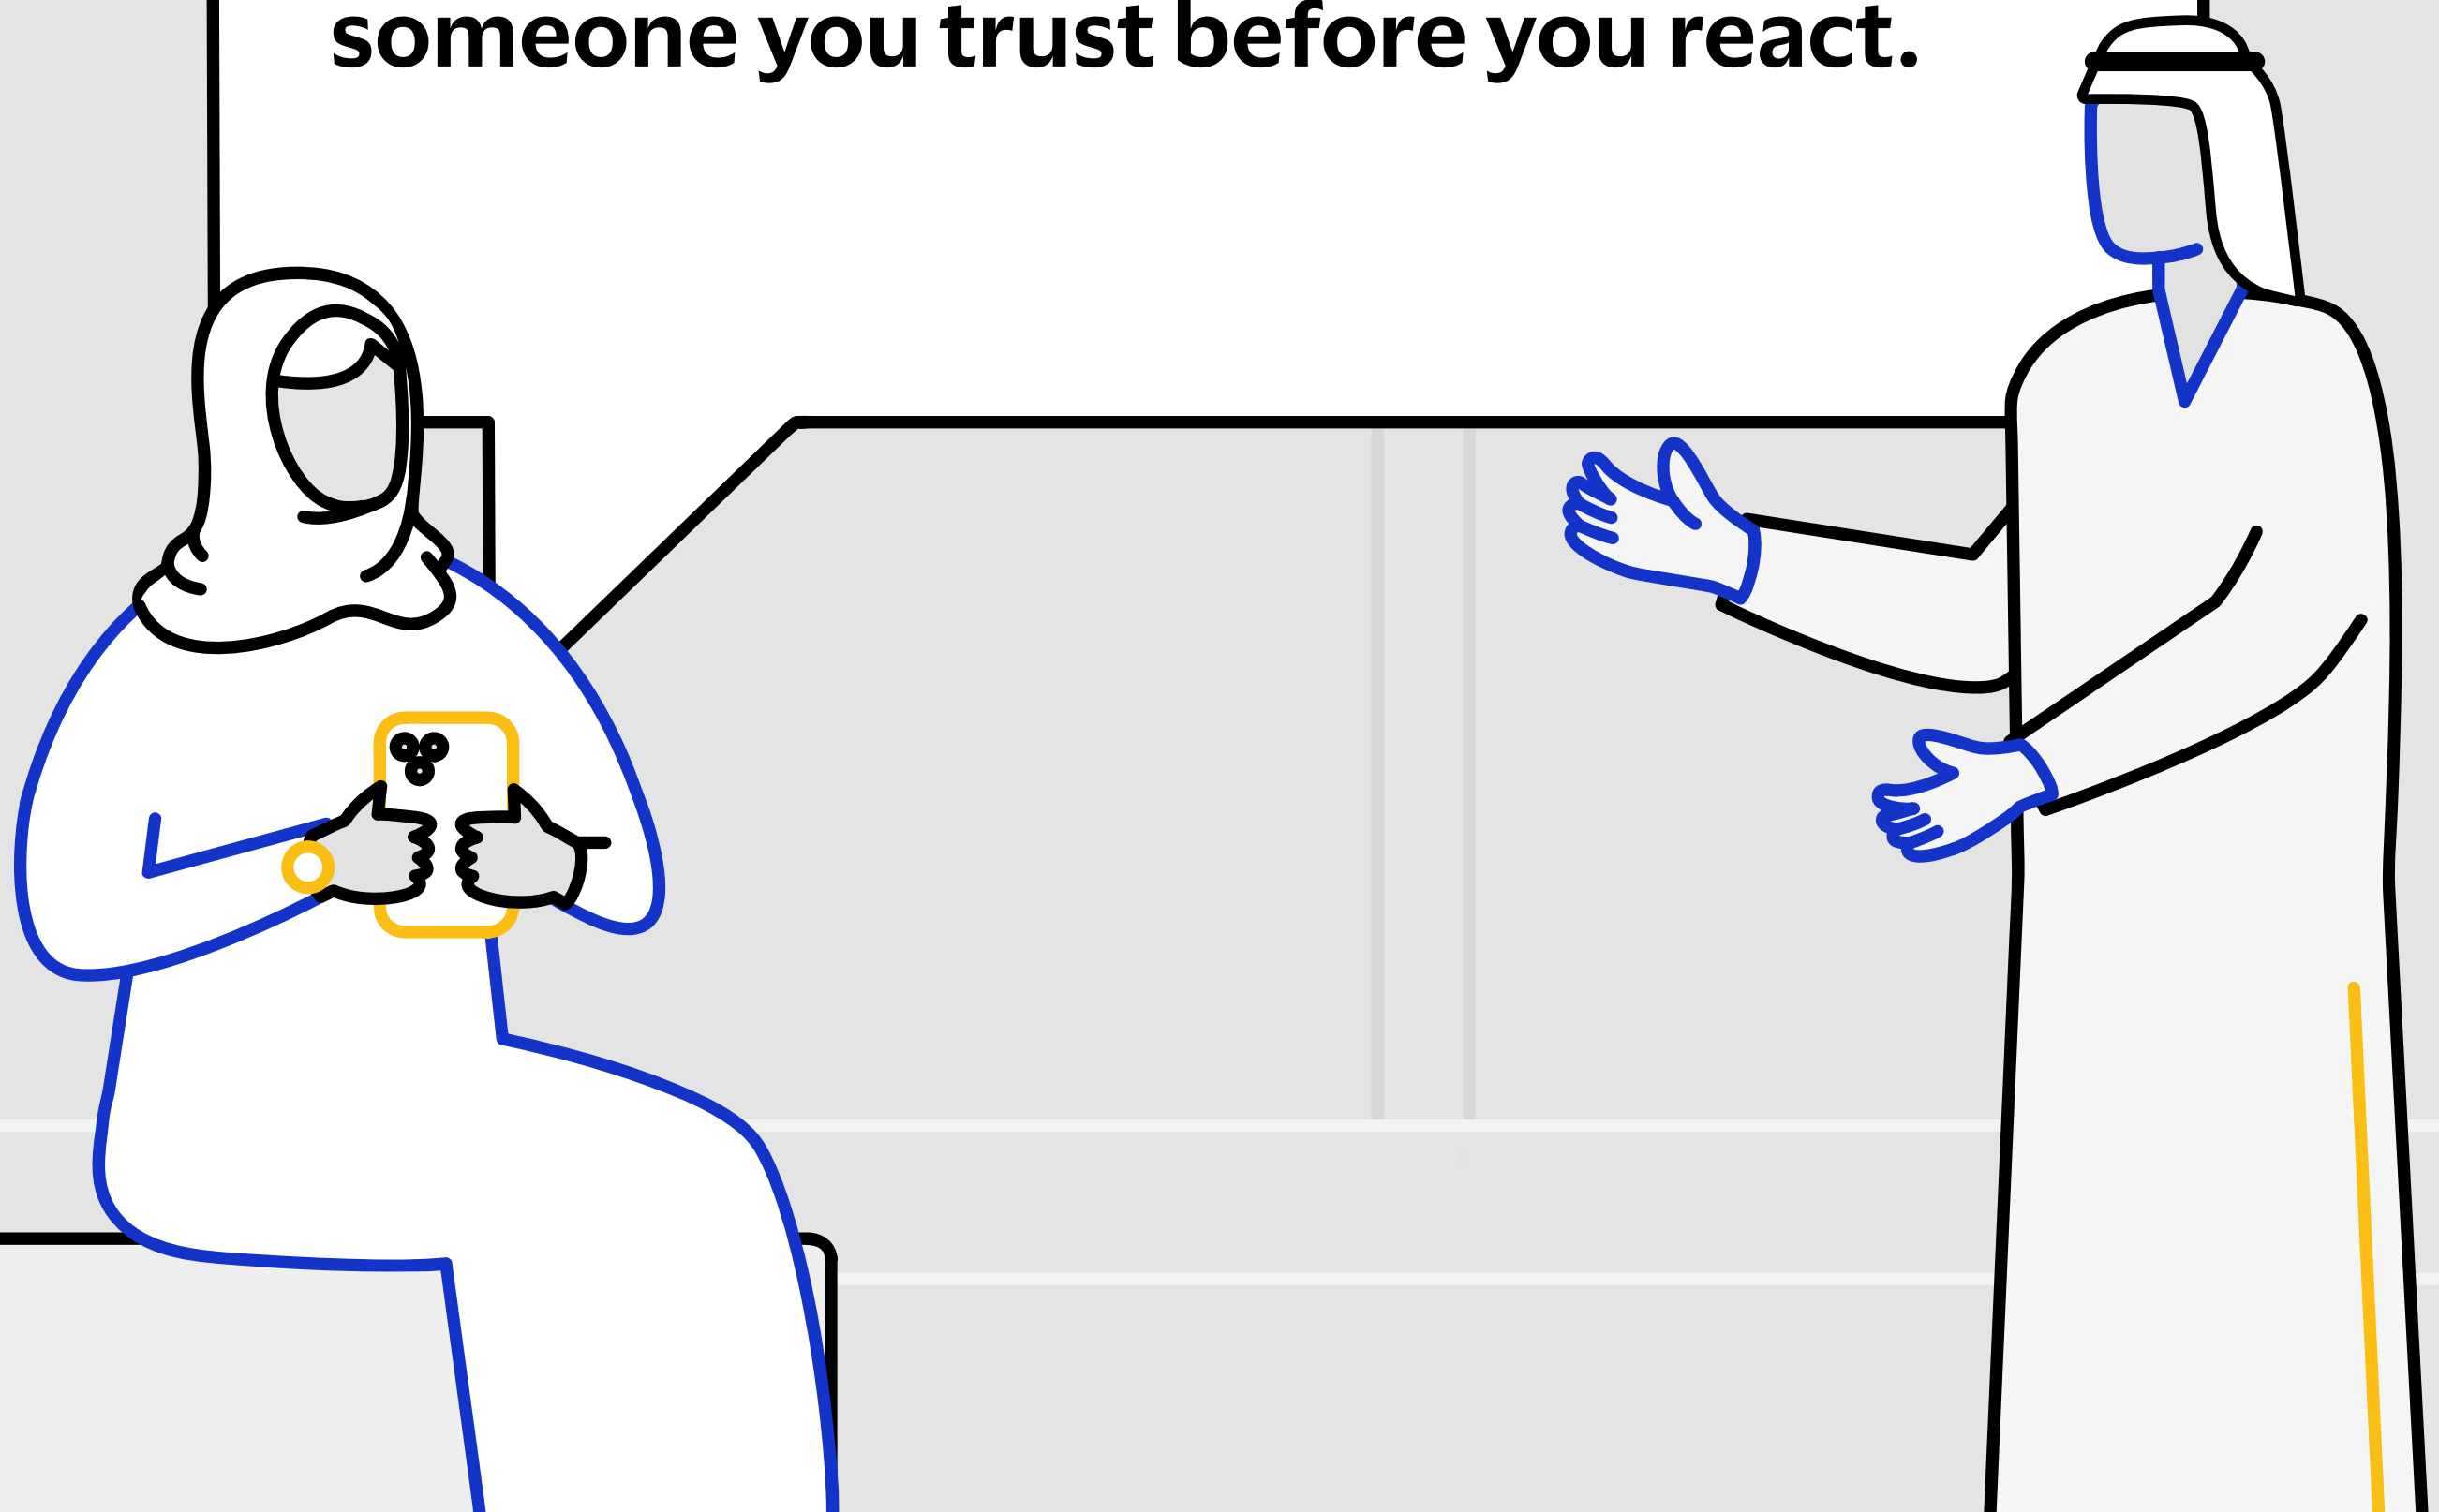

Fraudsters use persuasive language and sophisticated tactics to gain trust.

Confirm the credibility of your contact by using a different, trusted form of communication.

✓ — Check the message
✓ — with a trusted source

Sometimes, a second pair of eyes can help you spot a scam.. Seek advice from someone you trust before you react.

 Be cautious of urgent verifications and free gifts

Phrases like “click here now” “free gift” or “action required” aren’t always what they seem.

Vet how genuine the message is before responding.
